Cold Winter Winds, Warm Comfortable Clothing

There Is No Standstill Here

Life and growth are visible at every angle and nothing lags or flags. This business is a science. The men and women on the watch for better things to present to our customers are interested men and women of ability. The women of Clarksburg are good judges and fair critics. Our duty is to give them the best things to be had. We are constantly told that a great many things we offer are not seen elsewhere.

Of course, this is so. It must always be so. It is a great folly to run away from facts.

50 Best Body Brussel Rugs $22.50 Each, 9x12

It is a pleasure to sell folks a Rug after he or she has been convinced they cannot buy a better rug for the price.

The trouble with some, however, is they make comparisons on the surface only.

Again, some, who foolishly imagine that because a rug is quoted at $19.98 marked down from $30—as a matter of course they're saving the difference.

Frequently we have made comparisons between Rugs sold outside of this store at $25 and our own fine Body Brussels Rugs at $25. Not infrequently we have found that the so-called $25 rug was not a Body Brussels at all, but a 10-wire tapestry.

These rugs are the genuine Body Brussels that sell here regularly at $25 and today is a "golden special." Price of $22.50.

Size 9x12 feet.

Our Paristyle Coats For Women

Very Fine Violin.
In London, Adolf Betti, first violin of the Florenzale quartet, was fortunate in securing a beautiful and well-preserved Guadagnini violin—an extremely fine instrument that musicians have declared to be a veritable find. The violin has an especially large tone, and is especially suitable for modern works in the Florenzale's repertoire. For the classic music Mr. Betti will continue to use his Stradivarius, which possesses a more delicate tone. The instruments which the quartet uses are the property of their patron, Mr. E. J. de Copper, of New York. They are of great value. The Florenzale's are touring America under the management of London Charlton.

The quartet will appear in the Masonic auditorium here Friday night, November 21, beginning at 8:15 o'clock, under the auspices of the Marcato Music Club.

Parsonage Wedding.
Miss Gertrude Craig, of Meadowbrook, and Mr. Harry E. Shafer, of Northview, were united in marriage at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the parsonage of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, South, the ceremony being performed by the pastor, the Rev. W. H. Foglesong. Mr. and Mrs. Shafer will make their home at Northview.

Program Postponed.
The program which was to be rendered by the Union Missionary Society at the Central Christian church at 7:30 o'clock this evening has been postponed until further notice on account of the bad weather.

No Meeting.
There will be no regular meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union this week, the meeting scheduled for tomorrow afternoon having been called off.

Bridge Party.
Mrs. Estelle Shuttleworth has issued cards for a bridge whist party, which she will give Friday afternoon at her home on Clay street.

To Be Hostess.
Thursday evening Miss Sarah McDonald will be hostess of the East End Sewing Circle in her home on Florence street.

Meeting Postponed.
Owing to the inclement weather the study department of the Marcato Music Club will not hold a meeting this evening, but it will meet at the home of Miss Sara M. Atchison at 8 o'clock next Monday evening.

Missionary Society Meets.
The local department of the Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, will meet at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Walden, 126 Dodge Court. All members are urged to be present.

The tortoise shell of commerce is supplied by the West Indian waters.

GOOD REASONS.

I wish to call the attention of my friends and patrons to the fact that I do not have a substitute. I do not employ nor send out a man. I am the artist here in this studio. I personally ransack all of my business and make all of my sittings, in the studio or out of it. I also desire to thank those customers who have so liberally and kindly recommended my work to their friends. Practically every one, specially those who buy high class photos, remark that they are the best they have ever had taken. I understand how to make them good and that always pleases not only the sitter but those who are fortunate enough to receive one of them as gifts. This is the very reason why you should have your photos made at the "Our Way" Studio by MRS. M. E. RARICK.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The historic interest which attaches to the offices of Senator William E. Chilton in the capitol building is not entirely due to the events of an earlier period, although these events give an air of distinction to them, but they are keeping pace with modern events and the occupancy by Senator Chilton will add to their historic value in future years, as various periods in the past have done. Senator Chilton's offices, consisting of a suite of three rooms, are in the oldest part of the capitol building, the cornerstone of which was laid by George Washington in 1793.

Senator Chilton is located in the northern wing of the original building, which was the first to be completed. The north wing was finished in 1800, the south wing in 1811 and a wooden passage way, through what is now the rotunda, connected them.

In 1814 the wooden passage way was totally destroyed and both wings were greatly damaged by fire started by the British troops in the war of 1812. The damage to the building was immediately repaired and in 1827 the original building was completed. In 1851 the work on the present wings, occupied by the Senate and House respectively, was begun and the extensions were occupied for legislative purposes in 1855. Senator Chilton's offices were among the first to be occupied in any portion of the original building.

Webster and Calhoun occupied them in their time; Senator Polk came into them at a later date and Senator LaFollette surrendered them to Senator Chilton when he became the chairman of the committee on the census. Much of the legislation of the nation has been framed in those offices and many an interesting story could be written of what has transpired in them. Senator Chilton, in view of their interesting history, has undertaken to increase their value to the historian and has brought them right up to date from the historical standpoint. His offices have just been covered with the carpet on which Woodrow Wilson stood when the oath of office as president was administered to him. Thus the senator has linked together in his office the memories of the earliest history of the nation and a relic of the last great event in the country's career.

The inauguration of Woodrow Wilson as president is certain to become one of the most important events in the history of the United States and it is fitting that the carpet on which he stood when he took the oath of office should be placed in one of the first rooms ever occupied in the capitol of the nation and which sheltered the greatest men of their time in the early part of the country's career. Senator Chilton is greatly pleased that he should be assigned to such historic quarters and that it should fall to his lot to preserve the historic floor covering on which trod the first Democratic president the country has had for almost a quarter of a century.

Congressman Hughes, of the Fifth West Virginia district has mailed to the clerk of the House and had filed among the records of the House a petition from various citizens of his district favoring the passage of a bill relating to mail order houses.

DAUGHTER BORN.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Koehler are the happy parents of an eight-pound daughter. The stork brought the little one last night, not withstanding the heavy snowstorm. The happy father has a broader smile than usual and his celebration is not out of order. Mrs. Koehler and the baby are doing nicely.

PRISONERS WORK.

The county road prisoners were engaged today in shoveling snow in the court house yards.
